Section-5: Terms of Reference

For Feasibility Feasibility Study for Waste to Energy Projects in Bhimad Municipality, Tanahau, Shuklagandaki Municipality, Tanahau and Gadimai Municipality, Rautahat- Package A

1. Introduction

Nepal is one of six pilot countries identified for assistance under the Scaling-up Renewable Energy Program in Low Income Countries (SREP) by the SREP sub-committee. As one of three programs under the Strategic Climate Fund, SREP aims to demonstrate the social, economic and environmental viability of low carbon development pathways in the energy sector. In particular, the objectives of SREP in Nepal are to (i) leverage complementary credit and grant co-financing; (ii) bring about transformational impacts through scaling up energy access using renewable energy technologies (RETs), poverty reduction, gender and social inclusiveness and climate change mitigation; and (iii) ensure sustainable operations through technical assistance and capacity building. The Government of Nepal (GoN) has designated the Ministry of Finance (MoF) and the then Ministry of Population and Environment (MoPE) (currently Ministry of Energy, Water Resource and Irrigation) as the focal points for SREP. The ministry has designated the Alternative Energy Promotion Centre (AEP) as the lead agency for SREP-related activities.

Under SREP, there are two different types of large sized biogas plants or energy projects prioritized for implementation viz. commercial plants and municipal solid waste (MSW) to energy plants. The municipalities willing to develop the waste to energy project under this program are expected to partner with private entrepreneurs bringing technology to invest in the waste to energy project for commercial use.

2. Background

Waste management in urban centers of Nepal has become an issue that requires imminent attention. Generating energy from waste is a rather new concept in Nepal. There are a few small scale projects being implemented, but none of the projects have been documented on a municipal scale where waste is being converted to energy. Production of biogas from municipal waste is an option to mitigate the ever growing demand for energy in Nepal.

Biogas is seen as a comparatively successful and lucrative business in rural Nepal. These biogas plants are mainly based on cattle manure as feedstock and are mainly popular in rural areas. But in the urban and semi urban areas, a huge resource for biogas production is being wasted. Landfill being the only destination of MSW in most of the other big cities of Nepal, it is creating huge environmental problems. This waste has the potential to be converted into wealth by means of biogas which can contribute to energy production as a renewable energy source.

In this regard, AEP seeks to conduct study on the potentiality of waste to energy projects in Bhimad Municipality, Tanahau, Shuklagandaki Municipality, Tanahau and Gadimai Municipality, Rautahat which have significant waste generation quantity and have shown considerable interest in the project.

3. Objective

“To conduct the feasibility study for waste to energy projects in Bhimad Municipality, Tanahau, Shuklagandaki Municipality, Tanahau and Gadimai Municipality, Rautahat to determine the biogas potential from organic waste fraction of the Cities.”

4. Scope of Work

The key scope of work is;

Determination of Potential of Biogas from the Municipal Solid Waste of the Municipalities by:

- Quantification of the waste production and collection in the municipalities. The data has to be collected in association with the municipalities.
- Determination of the organic waste fraction of the different samples of waste using an approved waste characterization protocol in the municipalities.
- Analyze the an-aerobically digestible waste fraction from the organic fraction of the municipalities.
- Assess the potential of biogas energy from the waste fractions generated and collected in the municipalities.
- Recommend sorting and pre-treatment options for extracting energy from the organic waste fraction and recommend treatment processes.
- Obtain information and evaluate technologies suitable for minimizing the amount of waste going to landfill.
- Recommend proven technologies readily available to treat solid waste to help meet the relevant environmental and other waste management obligations along with pre-digestion, digestion and post digestion of the digested slurry.

Besides the above mentioned scope, the consulting firm should;

- Recommend a number of preferred technologies and a number of potential sites where such a facilities may be developed in each municipality.
- Propose a project timeframe for the development of the facilities.
- Analyze the economics associated with biogas use.

5. Methodology

The Consultant should mention the detailed approaches and methodology for conducting this assignment. The consultant shall conduct a desk study, consultation with relevant stakeholders, municipality officials, field work, review of relevant technological options available, and recommend the most suitable and cost-effective approach for Nepal’s context. The consultant shall work in close coordination with AEPC/SREP and the municipalities to get inputs during site identification, preparation of the report. The consultant shall prepare the feasibility study reports in the format as prescribed in "AEPC Feasibility Study Guidelines-MSW Biogas."

6. Timing and Budget

The proposed duration for the scope described above including study reports and production of the final report shall be of 2 months.

The exact timing of each activity shall be fixed during the Contract Agreement.

6.2 Budget
